Impact of Landscape Maintenance for your Business

The appearance of your business's landscape is essential to your success.

Commercial landscaping has changed from general and austere to singular and artistic.

Commercial landscape maintenance, done properly, ensures that your outdoor environment strongly reinforces your organization's image.

When selecting a commercial landscape maintenance company to maintain your gardens, consider that you are picking a partner for a continuous activity.

Landscape architects have planned unique designs that embody a theme.

The maintenance company you choose has to maintain the theme and offer ongoing attention that matches, and strengthens, the design concept.

LANDSCAPE MAINTENANCE

Commercial landscape maintenance companies are an “artist of life”.

They determine the manner in which plants—trees and shrubs—grow, develop and mature.

An organization’s image includes the same attributes which gives life to your garden; thus, your image is complete when your landscape looks the best it can at all times.

Every business looks powerful, established and trustworthy when people are received by a professional and pleasing landscape. Your organization’s creativeness is also communicated through the garden. The more beautiful your gardens, the more competent you appear to your customers.

ARBOR CARE

Tree Pruning enhances the appearance and value of the landscape

As trees grow, they need direction. This may be in the form of pruning or removing deadwood. Proper pruning is important because it:

- a) Removes weak, storm damaged, diseased, or interfering tree limbs/branches.
- b) Provides clearance for driveways, structures and overhead lines, streets, sidewalks, and driveways.

Have a professional evaluate the trees on your property.

LANDSCAPE & IRRIGATION

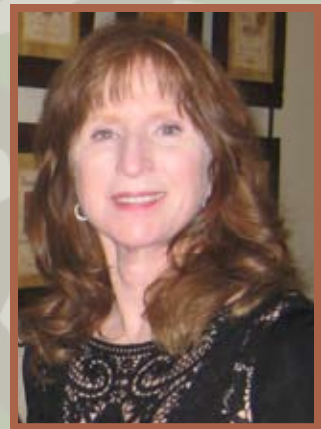

The place you give to commercial landscape maintenance transmits a lot about how much you service your customers. Good maintenance conveys success; your organization's professionalism is reflected in the appearance of the landscape.

Healthy plants, lively patterns with annual color, properly pruned trees—all of these create a successful image.

The appearance of your landscape sets the tone for your company's future success. The well-maintained landscape enhances the environment, as well as the quality of life of your workers, collaborators, stock holders, distributors, providers, customers, and the community—everyone who sees it.

Choosing a commercial landscape maintenance company that understands the importance of image can add to the message your organization wants to pass on and deliver to its customers.
